

Application Guidelines

Refer to the accompanying diagram for typographic layout implementation standards.

Text information or graphic elements should not obstruct the functional appearance of the product, such as sockets and screen displays.

Avoid centering both the copy and the product simultaneously to prevent mutual interference.

Highlight the main information to ensure a clear information hierarchy in the picture.

Do not cover the functional appearance of the product, such as sockets and screen displays, with text information or graphic elements.

Do not center the copy and the product simultaneously to result in mutual interference.

Do not emphasize too many elements in the same layout design.