

Text-Element Types

To keep the information hierarchy clear, each text element has a distinct size and weight. High-contrast typography removes visual clutter and focuses the viewer on the data itself.

Element Type

- Heading
- Data and Numbers
- Units and Symbols
- Explanatory Text

These four types form the foundational structure of informational text, creating a clear visual hierarchy through consistent variation in font size and weight.

By default, Mont for Anker is used for data visualizations and English-only scenarios. HarmonyOS Sans is used in Chinese-language scenarios for text-based content such as headings, measurement units, and explanatory notes.
